

Sarah Nettleton Architects and Gustavus Adolphus College invites you to a tour of the Spear House

TUESDAY NOVEMBER 16, 2010, 1:30 to 4 pm • 40790 Warning Road, St. Peter, MN 56082

Sarah Nettleton, the designing architect of the Spear House will be giving a lecture/presentation on architecture and design at 4:30 pm in Wallenberg Auditorium.

- The house will be open from 1:30–4 pm.
- Shuttle service will be provided for students every half-hour from the Three Flags.
- This event is free and open to the public.

This event is funded by the Ethel and Edgar Johnson Endowment for the Arts and the Department of Art and Art History

Dramatically set on a restored native prairie overlooking the Minnesota River valley, the house merges an elegant, modern aesthetic with high-performance design.

The design embodies a wholistic commitment to sustainability:

- An open floor plan gives flexible, sun-filled, comfortable spaces.
- Just steps away from the kitchen is an edible landscape.
- SIPS construction, geothermal ventilation, passive and active solar heating, high-efficiency windows.
- Certified LEED Gold and Energy Star 5+
